SOUTH SALEM CEMETERY

LEWISBORO'S CEMETERIES

In the thirteen years since the last history book was created there has been a lot of research done on the fourteen cemeteries in our town. Recently, alll information has been entered into a data base enabling us to do various types of analyses of the material.

The aphabetical list in this book includes all of the names from all fourteen cemeteries. Due to the constraint of space a list for each individual cemetery could not be included. However the Town House does have a separate folder for each cemetery. These folders contain a list for each cemetery. Certain ones contain a chart showing the location of each stone. Most folders contain information about those men who served in the military. Some folders also contain painstakingingly copied inscriptions from each stone.

In spite of all of these efforts however, the best way to learn about a particular individual is to visit the cemetery, read the stone oneself and observe the relationships of the stones to one another. The lists cannot adequately show the familial relationships demonstrated by family groupings of tombstones.

Some stones are difficult to read. Often the arithmetic in deducing a birthdate does not yield the exact year, for example: "Died January 1, 1799, aged 77 years." The person could have been born in January 1, 1722 or December 31, 1721 and not yet have celebrated his 78th birthday. The many question marks in the list reflect these difficulties as well as outright omissions on the stones or the erosion of inscriptions due to time and the environment.

Deaths after 1910 are generally not recorded, however all stones in small cemeteries and all stones in old family plots have been included. This is why there are some very recent deaths recorded. The earliest birthdate recorded is 1698.

Maiden names have been cross-referenced as much as possible. There are still a few cemeteries whose stones need to be copied and charted. When this is done the information will be filed in the Town House.

In 1981 a stone was uncovered in the South Salem Presbyterian Church Cemetery which had not been recorded in the only list that existed at that time, "South Salem Gravestone Inscriptions" by Theodore L. Van Norden. The stone reads: "Here lyes the body of Sarah Bishop who died...1758 the 38 year of her age, the wife of Joseph Bishop". It was entered in the 1981 history book listing and was noticed by a genealogist by the name of John Bishop. Mr. Bishop did extensive research and was astonished to learn that an ancestor was buried here before her entire family moved south to Virginia. Family trees in Virginia will have to be rewritten! He has duly registered this new discovery with all genealogical registers. It is this type of discovery which maintains the enthusiasm to continue with the research on our town's cemeteries.

The following page gives detailed information about each cemetery and indicates where more information is to be found.

I wish to thank everyone who helped with this research during the past thirteen years, but especially my husband Mark who never once hesitated to give his time to this project.

Respectfully,

Vi Patek March 6, 1994
